

LEGION GIVES CHRISTMAS PARTY

Grayling Post 106 entertained with a delightful Christmas party at Spike's Monday night and their efforts were surpassed on this occasion for being royal hosts.

After the guests had all arrived "Spike" got busy on the "mike" with announcements of what there was on the evening's program, the first of which was a group of dances. At this time he announced that for the first dance gents were to be fined if they danced with their wives. Of course this was met with much favor by the husbands who made a mad rush for the opportunity to have the first dance with someone else's wife. The Poki-Dot orchestra furnished the music and it was fine.

Intermingled during the evening with the dance numbers were three games of Screeno, as each guest was presented with a Screeno card on arriving. Mrs. Wilfred Laurant, William Hill, and Julius Paul were winners and prizes were baskets of fancy groceries. Frank Decker received the door prize, a huge live goose.

The garden was gay with colored lights and the national colors, with a brilliantly lighted Christmas tree adorning one side of the room. Gifts that were brought by each guest were for children and were placed under the tree. These were given to the Ladies Auxiliary to be distributed at a party to be given later.

For eats a turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served in buffet style. Large heaping plates were carried to the tables and 110 pounds of turkey were devoured by the crowd. Some of the ladies who watch their calories didn't seem to be worrying that night, of course this doesn't bother the men folks, and they ate as long as the food lasted.

This party climaxed the social activities of the year for the Legion and those who were there have the members of the Post and "Spike" McNeven to thank for a good time.

Mrs. Robt. Reagan Fatally Stricken

The passing away of Mrs. Robert Reagan at Mercy Hospital Wednesday was a distinct shock to people of this community. Mrs. Reagan suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Monday afternoon and passed away at 6:00 o'clock last evening, never regaining consciousness after having been stricken.

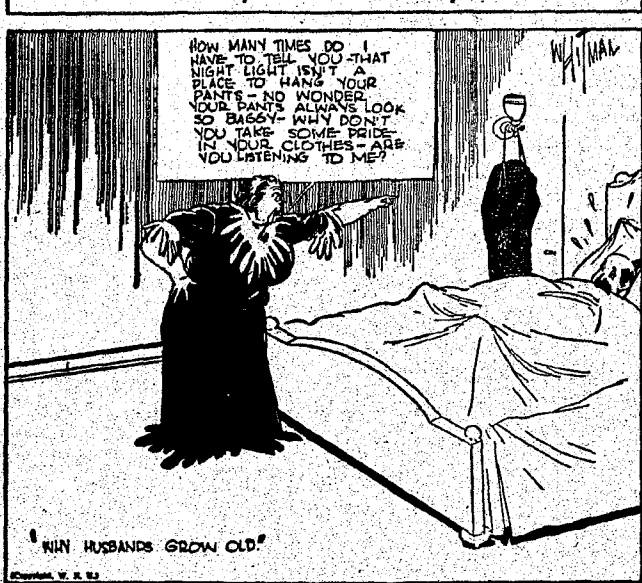

Although Mrs. Reagan had been in failing health for some months past she was able to continue her duties with the Emergency Relief Administration as investigator. When she was stricken Monday afternoon she was investigating a case in South Branch township. She had called at the home of Ben Hokason there, and completing her record, according to that gentleman, left the house, entered her car and had just started the motor when she was overcome. Mr. Hokason is aged and suffering from rheumatism, and did not know how to drive an automobile. However, he succeeded in getting Mrs. Reagan into his home and later walked to Roscommon for a doctor. Dr. Elmwood was notified and he hurried to the Hokason home and found Mrs. Reagan still in an unconscious condition. She was brought to Mercy Hospital here early Tuesday morning and everything within the power of local physicians was done to revive her but to no avail.

Miss Elaine, a student at the University of Michigan, was called home and Mrs. Reagan's sisters, Mrs. Joseph Malenfant of Cheboygan and Mrs. Lewis Johnston of Jackson were also called to her bedside.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Miss Elaine and other members of the family have the sincere sympathy of hosts of friends in their sorrow.

Kiwanis Club Hosts To Visiting Officials

On the occasion of the visit Wednesday of Director P. J. Hoffmaster and other conservation officials, and other interested parties, here for the purpose of conducting a public investigation on the matter of predatory animals, many were guests at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis club.

The entire dining room of Shoppens Inn was taken up for the gathering. It was an enthusiastic crowd that was present. Besides enjoying an appetizing luncheon, everyone joined in the singing and there were a number of brief addresses.

Senator Elect Miles M. Callaghan of Reed City, who was instigator of the predatory animal control meeting, told how he came to call the meeting, saying that during his election campaign many people complained to him of the devastating destruction of crops, especially of fruit trees, garden crops, fowl and other property by predatory animals. He promised that he would look into the matter and as a result a meeting was called to be held in Grayling that day. As many as 15 counties were represented and over 200 were in attendance at the meeting later that afternoon.

Judge Charles E. Moore told of how a committee of which he was a member, called upon the Conservation Commission and laid before the commission the matter of state aid for Grayling's Winter Sports park, explaining that this was no longer a feature for Grayling people but that the people of all Michigan had become winter-sports minded and that now the matter of providing such sports had out-grown us and that aid was needed and applied to the commission for aid. As a result the Commission, aided by Gov. Fitzgerald and the State Administrative board, $7,500 had been appropriated for the construction of an adequate building for accommodating the crowds.

Commissioner Hoffmaster replied that the Department maintained summer parks and that they were in accord in extending this service to winter parks.

Other speakers were Stanley Powell of Ionia, a member of the National Wool Growers association; Warren Murphy, supervisor of the Huron State Forest and Prof. George A. Brown, of the department of animal husbandry of Michigan State College.

Other members of the Conservation commission in attendance at the Kiwanis luncheon were Joseph Stephenson of the game division; Walter Kingscott, superintendent of state parks; C. A. Paquin, editor of public relations.

Among the guests, besides those mentioned, were Senator Ben Carpenter of Harrison; Representative William Green of Hillman; Boyd Funch of South Branch township; Editor William Crandall of West Branch and many others whose names we do not remember.

Immediately following the meeting the visitors left for Temple Theatre to attend the predatory animal control meeting that was to begin at 1:30 p. m.

HIGGINS LAKE RESIDENT PASSED AWAY
Funeral services will be held Thursday, Dec. 17th, for William H. Williams, of Higgins Lake, who passed away Tuesday morning. The deceased is survived by his widow, one daughter and four sons, Madeline, of Detroit; Clayton and Arthur, at home; Max, of Wyandotte, and Raymond, who is attending a trade school in Flint.

Mr. Williams was caretaker for the Cottage Grove Association, located at Higgins Lake, and was a frequent caller in Grayling.

LADIES GLEE CLUB GIVE CHRISTMAS CANTATA

For nineteen centuries the christian world has been singing the glad tidings: "Hark the Herald Angels Sing, Glory to the New Born King." The Christmas season is one of great joy that is manifest in song. Music that lifts one's thoughts above the material side of life, and bring him closer to things eternal has been sung for generations.

The Christmas cantata given at Michelson Memorial church Sunday evening by the Ladies Glee club directed by Mrs. C. G. Clippert and sponsored by the Woman's Club, was one of the finest ever given in Grayling.

The processional and recession—al was sung by thirty-four children and twenty Glee club members. It was an inspiring sight as well as rare treat to listen to this chorus of voices.

The anthems were very well rendered and the solos were exceptionally beautiful. For an hour and a half the audience sat attentive at this delightful sunset service unaware of time.

The setting for the cantata was most effective. Amid green boughs and trees gleamed a myriad of lighted candles which gave out the only light during most of the evening.

The Glee club were accompanied by Mrs. Clippert at the piano, Mrs. Karl Miller at the organ, and Mr. Walter Noa of Grayling as pianist. The perfect union of these instruments played a great part in the success of the music.

The following ladies made up the Glee club chorus:
Mrs. Roy Milnes, Mrs. Stanley Stealy, Mrs. Ernest Hoelsli, Mrs. Carl Hansen, June Underwood, Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Hurlev, Mrs. Gothro, Mrs. Cobb, Ruth McDonald, Mrs. Jarmin, Mrs. Shovar, Mrs. Bond, Helene Babbitt, Jerine Peterson, Miss Bath, Miss Weatherwax, Miss Eva Dorr.

Public Opinion

Because I love the better music that brings me pleasure and enriches my life, there is mingled with the enjoyment of a fine program a deep sense of gratitude and a desire to express thanks to those who bring this pleasure to us.

Many hours of work are required to prepare a cantata such as was given at the church Sunday evening. Mrs. Clippert and her associates have my sincerest thankfulness that they are willing and do give their time and talents on this and many other occasions.

A Music Lover.

150 Attend Predatory Animal Meeting

P. J. HOFFMASTER AND OTHER STATE OFFICERS ATTEND.

The predatory animal control meeting held in Grayling Wednesday, arranged by Senator Callaghan of this district and sponsored locally by the Crawford County Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, proved to be a big success. Nineteen counties were represented at this meeting with a total attendance of 135. The counties represented ranged from Marquette in the upper peninsula to Ionia county in the south.

Unfortunately just prior to the meeting, Senator Callaghan was taken suddenly ill and Mr. R. A. Wright, local President of the Izaak Walton League Chapter was requested to act as chairman of the meeting. Contrary to the rule where sportsmen get together to discuss problems, this meeting went off without the usual discussion and it was apparent that a mutual understanding of predatory animal control existed.

Each of the nineteen counties represented selected a spokesman and the chairman allowed each spokesman the floor for an allotted period of time. Following each speaker the chairman asked the following questions: "What might be definitely determined the attitude of each county represented?" "Do you believe in State Trapper system as a means of predatory animal control or the bounty system?" It was unanimous among the counties voting, that they favored the bounty system, with few exceptions. These exceptions being that some favored state trapper in isolated areas and suggested that state trappers be sent into various counties to teach local trappers proper methods of trapping.

The next question was, "Do you think the present bounty paid by the state on coyotes sufficient?" It was the unanimous opinion that the bounty was not large enough.

The next question was, "What suggestions have you to offer that would eliminate the abuse of past years whereby pelts of coyotes were brought in from other states that county might be collected from this state?" It was a practically unanimous opinion that the carcass of each animal should be brought in and checked into a local law enforcement officer.

It was also agreed that steps should be taken to cooperate with adjoining states in order that state should pay the same bounty and in so doing eliminate any possibility of gain through marketing pelts in any one of said states.

The last question was, "Do you favor saving any predatory animal for the purpose of the sport in hunting?" It was the unanimous opinion that no such animal should be protected. This latter question came up due to some sportsmen wanting the wildcat protected for the sport of hunting them.

Near the close of the meeting, Mr. Wright appointed a committee to draw resolutions in line with the sentiments expressed in the meeting, and when these resolutions were presented for action they were passed by unanimous vote. These resolutions will be printed herein in the next edition and should prove of interest to all.

Among those present were conservation director P. J. Hoffmaster; Jos. Stephenson, of the Game division; Walter Kingscott, superintendent of State parks; C. A. Paquin, editor of Public Relations; Prof. George A. Brown of M. S. C.; Warren Murphy, supervisor Huron National Forest; Senators Miles Callaghan and Carpenter and Rep. William Green.

I. W. L. Sponsoring New Year Party

The local chapter of the Izaak Walton League will sponsor a dance and party to be held at the school house on New Year's Eve. This party is being sponsored due to the public demand for a New Year's Eve party following the decision to discontinue the annual Charity Ball.

The local chapter are fortunate in securing the Tom Donahue orchestra of Detroit who are well known and should provide this party with excellent music. The committee in charge of the dance are taking care of all arrangements necessary to make this party a big success. Beautiful decorations are being arranged for the hall and the usual noisemakers, etc., will be available that the old year may be ushered out and the new year in proper fashion.

Invitations are being extended to nearby communities such as Gaylord, Roscommon, Kalkaska and West Branch. Tickets will sell for $1.25 per couple, which was necessary in view of the type of music secured for this affair. Further details of this party will be announced in next week's edition.

LYNCH-ISENHAUER

Mrs. Minnie Isenhauer became the bride, Saturday, of Mr. James Lynch, of Mt. Pleasant, at a pretty ceremony which took place at 4:30 o'clock at the rectory of St. Mary's church. Rev. Father James Moloney officiated and Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Callahan were the attending couple.

The bride was very attractive in a gown of rust-colored crepe with gold trim. The wrist-length sleeves were full and fashioned with insets of lattice work of self material, which extended from shoulder to elbow. Her accessories were rust colored and her corsage was of russet-colored roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Callahan chose for the occasion a very attractive gown of brown crepe, with which she wore black accessories. White and gold baby chrysanthemums formed her corsage.

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Lynch, of Shepard, Mich., sister-in-law and brother of the groom completed the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith entertained the bridal party with a very lovely dinner party that evening. Decorations were in colors of red and green, in keeping with the holiday motif. The wedding cake decorated in these colors, made a very pretty centerpiece, placed on a silver holder with mirror top. It was flanked by red tapers in green glass candlesticks, and there were nut cups of green and red. Mr. and Mrs. Smith make gracious hosts and the dinner was greatly enjoyed.

The bride has made her home in Grayling most of her life and has a host of friends. Although Mr. Lynch is not very well known here in Grayling, he has already made many friends. He is the proprietor of a grocery store, located at Mt. Pleasant. However, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch will make their home in Grayling and have the congratulations and best wishes of many friends for a very happily wedded life.

HANSON CAFE BASKETBALL TEAM OPENS SEASON

Friday night the Hanson Cafe opened their season with the traditional rivals, Gaylord, at that place. The game was played in the new gym and was certainly far better than any played in the old gym.

Although the game was lost by the score 25-23, the team showed promise of really having something. With last year's players of May, Stephenson, Harrison, Marshall, Gothro, and Dawson combined with the last year's graduating class, Borchers, Lovely, Smock, and Hanson, they have as good material for an independent team as has been seen in Grayling for a number of years.

Their next game is to be played Saturday night at Roscommon. Watch for the date of the opening home game and treat yourself to some real basketball.

Stage Is Set For Community Xmas

Don't suppose the youngsters are wondering who we meant when we spoke of George in connection with the Community Christmas treat. George Burke for years has taken it upon himself just a few weeks before Christmas to arrange a treat for the kiddies of Crawford and Roscommon counties. He in turn contracts with George Olson for a snow and solicits business men for contributions to put on the treat.

The party this year will be next Thursday afternoon, Dec. 24th and at 1:30 the children of Roscommon county are scheduled to attend the talkie at the theatre and about 3:00 the children of Crawford county. The show will be "Our Relations" featuring Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, favorites with every movie-goer. Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute sacks of candy and nuts after the show.

Gaylord To Play Here Friday Night

Friday night, on the most beautiful playing floor in northern Michigan, two of the oldest rivals of the North will wage their first battle of the season for basketball supremacy.

Any local fan who has been loyal to Grayling teams in the past will know that the teams to oppose the Green and White knobby night is none other than our old friend, Gaylord.

The Northern Lights, although not the same as the one who suffered defeat at the hands of the Top O' Michigan squad in the district tournament, are out for revenge and promise to hold high the banner of Grayling High.

The Cornell coached squad has hit its stride, winning their last two games by good-sized margins, and should give Makel's men a grand old tussle and a run for their money.

Gaylord fans, always loyal to their teams, especially when playing Grayling, will invade the local gym about 300 strong. Backers of the homesters should deem it their duty to get behind their boys. After all we should have more supporters than the visiting team. If you haven't as yet purchased your season tickets, do so at this game. You can still save money.

Programs with players names, numbers, and positions will be distributed at the door. Be sure and get one.

No Christmas Trees On Trunkline

There won't be any sprouting of Christmas trees along the trunkline highways this year.

E. E. Blomgren, maintenance engineer of the state highway department, issued an order last week barring this type of Yuletide decoration on the trunkline roads. Blomgren said there will be no exceptions.

The maintenance engineer issued the order after several communities had requested permission to place trees in the middle of city trunkline streets. Such requests were received from Springport, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, and Hudson, among others.

This is the first year that Christmas trees have been barred although the privilege was restricted in 1935. Blomgren said State Highway Commissioner Murray D. VanWagoner had ruled out the trees this year in view of the 1935 experience.

"This move is not made so much in the interest of public safety as it is for orderly traffic conditions," Blomgren said. "Last year Christmas trees that were permitted on the trunklines resulted in such traffic confusion that it was decided best to rule them off the roads."

The order does not bar decorations on light poles, overhead lights, trees at the side of the trunkline, or other forms of decorations. Overhead lights, however, must be high enough to give sufficient clearance and sight distance, Blomgren said.

LEWISTON PUTTING ON A COYOTE HUNT

The Lewiston Unit of the Montmorency County Sportsmen's league is sponsoring a coyote hunt on Sunday, December 20th. Everyone is cordially invited to grab their gun and join in. The hunters will convene at Lewiston at 8:00 a. m. and the hunt will start Sunday, Dec. 20, at 8:30 from Big Creek bridge on the Lovells road. There will be free hot coffee and sandwiches served at "Orwich's Shack" on Big Creek.

There are plenty of coyotes in this region and it is well worth the effort of every sportsman to help rid the country of these pests.

Frederic Defeats St. Joe; 23-22

Last Friday night Frederic High defeated St. Joe of West Branch in a hotly-contested overtime game, on the local floor, with the score 23-22.

Despite the loss of three of the locals by fouls, and the absence of Coach Beach, who was called away by the death of his father, the Orange and Black chalked up the win when Corsaut scored from under the basket to wipe out their one-point lead.

Gingrich, with seven points, was high man for the losers while Corsaut led the locals with twelve points.

The Frederic Reserves lost a hard-fought battle by an 11-10 score, and the Frederic girls also lost to St. Mary's of Gaylord by a 11-3 score.

Meaningless Weather Words

The United States weather bureau says that such expressions as "twice as cold as" and "twice as hot as" are scientifically meaningless.

Passing Judgment on Ourselves

We are in a better position to form a judgment of ourselves than of others, though less apt to express it.

Special Names for Beds

Used by England, France

Elaborate beds in both England and France were known by special names. One was called the "England Bed" because the arms of England were superbly embroidered upon its curtains of violet velvet and cloth of gold. The "Great Bed of Ware" was widely famed for its size, accommodating 12 persons on its ample mattress. Elizabethan and Tudor beds carried on the tradition of formal grandeur and were resplendent with richly carved headboards and carved columns expanding into bulbous proportions in addition to carved terminal figures of men and women and angels at the side of the headboard outlined against curtains of luxurious quality.

At the end of the Sixteenth century, according to a writer in the New York Sun, it seemed that extravagance in ornamented structure had gone as far as it should and in the Seventeenth century, decoratively speaking, there was a breathing spell for the wood carver. Bed heads were shaped of graceful, irregular curved lines, the frame posts and cornice made of any available wood, but they were covered completely with magnificent embroideries and handsome woven textiles such as Genoese velvet, applied or embroidered wool and silk rep and later damask. Scrolls and gadroon borders were constructed in wood and covered with skill by the upholsterer who had reached heights of supreme excellence not since surpassed. The inconspicuous framework was canopied and supported on four slender posts usually covered with the material and sometimes they were unobtrusively carved or painted. The mass of embroidered detail appeared on the headboard and the finest examples were as elaborate and required as great skill as did carved wood ornament. Fabulous sums were invested in them.

Hypnotism Long in Use

for Medical Treatments

Psychologists in universities, while investigating the mechanisms of the human mind, often employ hypnotism to bring to the surface its hidden workings, while physicians have legitimately used it many times in making cures of certain kinds of cases—such as drug addiction or alcoholism.

Hypnotism is not a mysterious force flashed over hundreds of miles by the power of some dark hypnotic eye, writes Prof. A. H. Estabrook in the Scientific American. A hypnotized person is much like one who walks in his sleep. If you can find such a person and start a conversation without waking him, you are in touch with the sub-conscious mind of one who is already hypnotized. The unconscious mind is in control of the body. In the hypnotic trance, however, the unconscious is also in touch with an operator. This accounts for the curious results obtained, for the unconscious is very open to suggestion and has a remarkable power over the entire body.

The Term "White Paper"

The term "white paper" is applied to government reports on any subject, especially British publications of a less extensive nature than the British blue-books, which are official reports of parliament and of the privy council. Reports of ambassadors, consular officials, etc., are often printed as "white papers". These terms have been in use for many years. During the late war, most of the warning nations published official documents to justify their stand. These included the white book of the Germans, the blue books of the British and Serbians, the yellow book of the French, the orange book of the Russians, the red book of the Austrians, the green book of the Italians, etc. The names are derived from the colors of the paper covers given to the documents.

Borneo Has No Calendar

Borneo's calendar-making priests erect an eight-foot sun-pole firmly in the center of each district, the shadow cast by the sun used as a time measure, on the same principle as our sun dial. When the sun is directly overhead, they look at the shadow on the ground and scratch along the full length of it while the shadow points north. By ancestral training and experienced observation of the pole's shortening noon shadow, they know when the spring season for plowing and seed time is approaching. Priests peg these dates in secret, hide their shadow rod, and after harvest claim "tithe" for helping farmers to locate the seasons.

India Has 17 Calendars

Each of India's 17 calendars are different and are used in the different Indian states. Assamese, Bengali, Bikrami or Punjabi, Burmese, Gregorian (used officially over all India), Gujrati (in the Bombay district), Hindoo (all parts of India), Jewish (by the Jews), Kanabese, Mahrashtia, Maylayi, Marvari (by Marwar states and by India's merchants), Mohammedan (all parts of India), Oriya, Parsee (scattered in most parts), Tamil (South, and all Ceylon) and Telugu (north of Madras),

Xmas Seal Receipts Reflect Better Times

Reflecting better times thruout Michigan, receipts from the thirtieth annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals are turning upward this year, officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and affiliated organizations in the state declared this week. Early returns on the Thanksgiving-to-Christmas sale clearly indicate, they believe, that the people of the state are ready and anxious to contribute again to the relief of human needs.

A practice that many were forced to abandon during the depression years. While returns during the early days of the sale were good, day-to-day receipts this week have been slightly less, it was pointed out. The necessity for maintaining the early pace if an increase over the 1935 mark is to be realized, was stressed by the anti-tuberculosis forces.

At Lansing, Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, stated it would be necessary to end a follow-up message to the several thousand in the state who have not yet contributed, a procedure involving considerable added expense.

"We realize," said Mr. Werle, "that many of those from whom we have not yet heard intend to give later on, but we have no way of knowing who they are. So much more would be available for the campaign against tuberculosis if it did not become necessary to make a second contact in so many instances. We are sure that if people realized how much is saved through early returns, they would not delay their contributions."

"This year there is a special need for a substantial increase over the 1935 receipts. We are within striking distance now of the goal that will be won largely through money. Medical science has done its part in providing the modern weapons to people who otherwise would never know their benefits. It is that work that will be made possible through Christmas seals. The 2,044 deaths from tuberculosis in Michigan last year are proof sufficient that a vigorous campaign in 1937 is a prime need."

MARK TROUT BY CLIPPING FINS

Fin-clipping, a widely used method of marking fish especially the Pacific salmon, is being tried out this year by state fish workers in the north branch of the AuSable river.

Under the direction of David S. Shetter of the Institute for Fisheries research, department of conservation, 10,000 brook trout, averaging nearly three and a half inches in length were fin-clipped at the Grayling fish hatchery and planted in equal lots at Anderson's bridge and in the region of Twin bridges.

Five thousand rainbow trout fingerlings furnished by the Charlevoix Sportsmen's club have been marked in a similar manner and planted in the south arm of Lake Charlevoix. These fish ranged from three to seven inches in length, averaging four inches at the time of planting.

Dorsal and adipose fins of each fingerling were clipped closely with a pair of small maniere shears. The extent to which these fins will grow back, it has been found, is negligible, so that they can be readily identified when caught. Heretofore small metal tags have been used to mark fish released for migration and growth studies.

Although fin-clipped fish cannot be recognized except as individuals from a certain marking, that fact is enough for the purpose of these experiments. The experiments are needed to determine the success of hatchery plantings in survival ratio, growth and spread of fish in streams after liberation and as a basis for estimating total trout populations from the number marked and unmarked fish recovered by seining and creel census.

The Milky Way

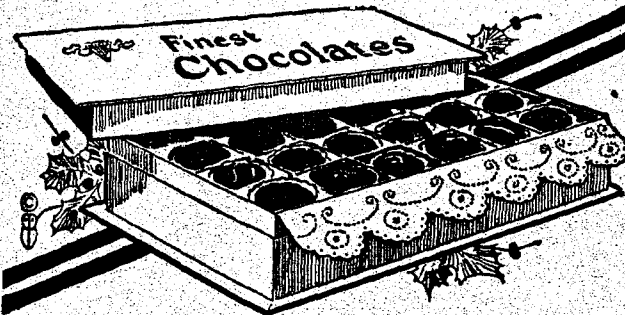

The milky way is a hazy, somewhat irregular band of light, about twenty degrees wide, which completely encircles the heavens. It can be seen on clear, moonless, summer evenings, stretching entirely across the northern sky. The unaided eye gets the impression that the milky way is made up of faint stars. The telescope confirms this impression by showing that the light of the milky way is caused by millions of stars. In reality these stars are great suns and they appear faint only because of their immense distances. Most of them are so remote that several thousand years are required for their light to come to us.

CUTTING DOWN THE FUEL BILL

Weather stripping and storm sash may help keep the family comfortable during the winter, but efficient firing can cut the fuel bill, it is pointed out by members of the engineering staff at Michigan State College.

One of the most important tips on firing is to keep ashes from piling up under the grates. Unless air circulates freely under the grates the metal is likely to overheat and warp, become difficult to operate and contribute to the waste of fuel. Good heating equipment should neither permit much smoke and wasted carbon to roll out of the chimney nor let fumes and smoke filter through the house when the system is checked off to save fuel.

SHORT COURSES TO OPEN JANUARY 4TH

Ten Courses Include Chance To Learn Care Of State's Farm Machinery

Getting their own tractor in ship-shape for the rush of spring work is one of the opportunities available to students attending the Michigan State College eight-weeks' agricultural engineering short course which starts Jan. 4, the same date for opening nine other special short courses.

Work offered in agricultural engineering consists of a variety of practical problems from which the students may choose one subject or several according to his needs. Subjects available are farm buildings and construction; farm mechanics and home equipment, including water supply systems and plumbing problems; engines, tractors, and electric motors; and wood and metal work.

A considerable portion of the 15 million dollars spent annually for upkeep on Michigan's farm implements and machines, valued at more than 100 million dollars, might be saved through timely repairs," says H. H. Musseman, head of agricultural engineering at the college.

In step with the rapid progress of rural electrification in Michigan, the agricultural engineering short course will offer work in the uses and costs of electrical equipment.

Other eight weeks' short courses to be started Jan. 4 are those in general agriculture; dairy production, dairy manufacturing, including buttermaking, cheese making, and marketing; poultry; practical floriculture; home economics; golf course management, and forestry and wildlife conservation. A four-weeks' special course in commercial fruit production also will begin Jan. 4.

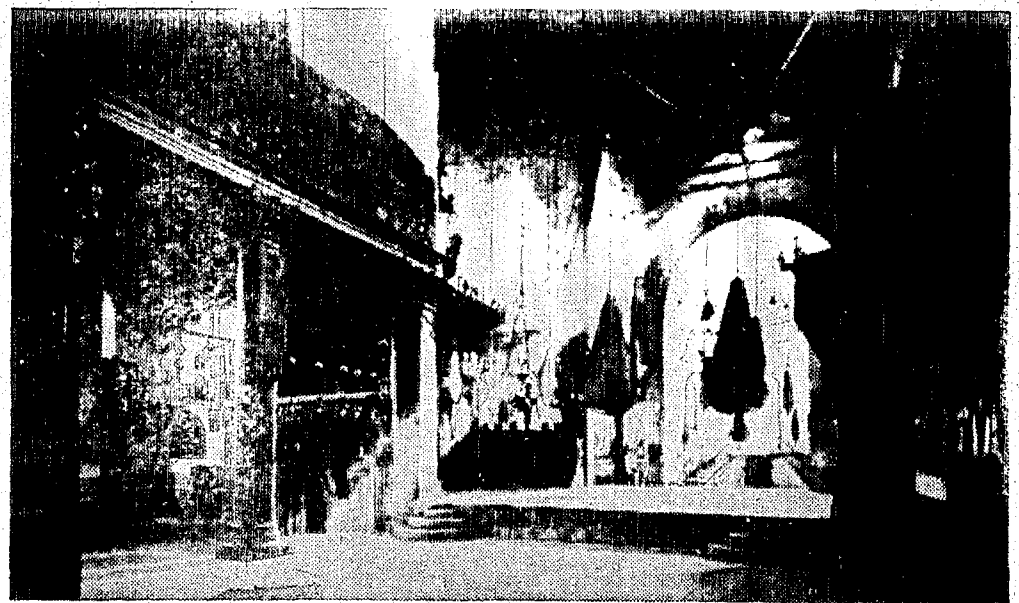

Information on these short courses, as well as the other 20 special courses and conferences may be obtained by addressing Short Course Office, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

America's First Christmas

America's first Christmas day was spent by Columbus and his men in salvaging what they could from the stranded wreckage of the Santa Maria which had run aground on the coast of Haiti. The Christmas feast was not held until the next day.

Cutting Xmas Trees No Serious Damage

All things remaining equal, northern Michigan can continue indefinitely to supply the entire state with Christmas trees without suffering serious or notable damage to its forest cover, believe forestry specialists of the department of conservation.

Much concern has been expressed by many persons over the heavy cutting of young spruce, balsam, pine and even cedar trees on northern wild lands each year, but foresters do not think that this removal of young trees is a very serious deforestation factor.

It has been variously estimated that a million or more young Christmas trees are cut annually and sold in all parts of the state, the largest markets being in the southern centers of heavy population, as well as imported into Michigan from Canada and eastern states.

One authority has estimated that all of the trees cut for Christmas use on Michigan lands in one season could be produced on a good-size southern Michigan farm, growing 4,800 trees to the acre.

All cutting of Christmas trees must be confined to privately-held wild areas, conservation authorities say. The department of conservation forbids by law any cutting on state-owned lands.
Every potential Christmas tree in northern Michigan has an owner and it is up to the cutter to get proper authority before starting operations. Otherwise he is committing trespass and is subject to the penalty provided by law if apprehended.

Health & Hygiene

TREATMENT OF DROPSY

Since dropsy always is an indication of disturbance or imbalance of some organ, generally the heart or kidneys, it is clear that the underlying disease must be relieved in order to get rid of the dropsy. If the heart or kidney disease is severe and relief is rather slow, the water may be removed from the chest cavity, the heart cavity, or the abdominal cavity.
This may further complicate matters because the pressure of accumulated water on the lungs or heart may embarrass lung or heart action. Many times it will have to be drawn off by tapping with a hollow needle. In the abdominal cavity, a large collection of water may increase the girth of the abdomen by a foot or more. The skin is stretched tight and shiny. Drawing off a gallon or more of water here is not infrequent.

In recent years, great progress has been made in the treatment of dropsy through research in the laboratory and at the bedside.
The treatment is never based on trying to make the kidneys more active. This emphasizes the fact that kidney pills and patent medicines to "rush the kidneys" merely add to injury already present and very seldom accomplish anything.

There are three conclusions to be considered from these researches. First, there is no longer any excuse for self-medication by means of patent kidney remedies which sometimes aggravate a disease. Secondly, dropsy is a sign of some bodily disturbance which needs rectification through dietary and medicinal measures, and, thirdly, if treatment begins early, it need not be considered as hopeless as formerly, because much can be done ordinarily to make these patients comfortable.

We are directing our efforts toward teaching medical facts and how to prevent diseases predisposing to dropsy, principally dietary indiscretions and infections, but when the damage has been done, there still is hope of maintaining a status quo by the application of scientific methods in treatment.

FISHING THRU THE ICE

With hunting on the wane due to the expiration of legal open seasons, fishing through the ice will be one of the outdoor pastimes that will help sportsmen bridge the long winter months.
Authorities expect that well over a half-million licenses will be sold in 1937.

There are no major changes in fishing regulations for the new year, fisheries men say. Regulations limiting the number of lines that may be used legally remain in effect. Not more than two single ice lines, with one hook to each line, is permitted each fisherman and these lines must be "held in the hand" or under immediate control. In the case of smelt fishing any number of hooks may be used on a line.
Authorities construe the "tip-up," an ice-fishing device, as a single line and rule it is legal so long as the operator remains within reasonable sight distance.

State Mineral Rights Sustained

The Krench case at West Branch, which led to a state supreme court decision upholding the right of the state to reserve the mineral rights on state lands sold, was responsible this month for the largest public sale of oil and gas lease rights ever conducted by the department of conservation.

Approximately 90,000 acres of state lease rights were offered at the sale, of which about 40,000 acres had been withheld from previous sales since early in 1936 because of the pending legislation. In October the state supreme court reversed the decision at West Branch, which had declared that the state had right to reserve mineral rights when it sold land, and made it possible to offer at auction about 40,000 acres of lease rights, for which the requests of operators had been accumulating.

The sale, conducted in Lansing Dec. 3 and 4, was attended by a large number of oil operators with several large firms represented and resulted in the sale of 32,500 acres of land lease rights. Competition among operators was keen and as much as $5.02 per acre was offered.

Operators are becoming more interested in the oil possibilities of land farther north in the lower peninsula, where the state has a heavy ownership of land, said Fred P. Struhaker, chief of the lands division. This is one reason why the acreage offered was so large, he says.

WANTED—OLD XMAS TOYS

A drive for old and broken toys will be carried on for the next two weeks under the W.P.A.
Recreation Program with the aid of local agencies.

These toys will be repaired and painted by youths working on the National Youth program under competent leadership, and then turned over to the community for their use at Christmas time.

The Spectacled Bear
The giant panda of Tibet is also known as the spectacled bear. It is not a true bear but belongs to the family of raccoons and is about the size of a small brown bear.
The general body color is white, except for black rings round the eyes, from which it gets its name.
It has small, rounded black ears,
a black "saddle" across the shoulders and a black rump. It is purely herbivorous and is found in forest country at an altitude of about 12,000 feet in the wild and inaccessible mountain ranges of the Province of Szechuen, on the east Tibetan border.

Sea Sickness
Sea sickness has plagued man

CHRISTMAS TREE SANTA

Old Santa may bring the presents but it's Al Weber of Cheboygan who furnishes the Christmas trees. We wonder just how many of these trees Al has furnished his newspaper friends in lower Michigan where they can't go out and cut their own. And he always sends them beauties—the best of the fine ones.

Al tried a new stunt this year when he wrote Editor Chet Howell of Chesaning that he should get his gang of youngsters and come up and cut their own. "No sooner said 'en done." Last Friday Chet, dressed in winter garb and colored Scotch cap, arrived in Grayling with five youngsters—two of his own; a son of Frank Picard, a well known Democratic leader; a son of Howard Lawrence, a well known Republican leader; and a youngster who had a very contagious smile for everyone. All were from Saginaw.

It would have been hard to pick a happier crowd, and they were especially happy because of the big dinner party Al had awaiting them at Cheboygan.

One may easily imagine a group of young lads turned loose amidst wild woods where there are deer and bear aplenty, and where Christmas trees grow the finest. What a time they must have had and what a privilege to have been there. And we'll wager that Al and Chet got an even greater thrill out of it than those five enthusiastic youngsters.

Why not look now for those discarded toys in the basement or attic that will bring happiness and cheer to some boy or girl this Christmas. If you have any toys for this purpose, kindly leave word at the Avalanche Office or with Arthur Clough, Ken Gothro or Russell Robertson and they will gladly call for them.

Straight from the heart—
Comes our Christmas greeting
To you and all our friends.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

NATURE KNOWS WHAT SHE IS DOING

AN OLD German hymn says, "The corn must die." And it is pointed out that before it can be born again the kernel must be sacrificed—buried—in what appears to be a grave.

It is really not a grave in which the kernel is buried, but chrysalis, out of which emerges tomorrow's new corn, perhaps a better and finer corn.

That phenomenon of Nature is not confined to plants. It is true of our own daily lives.

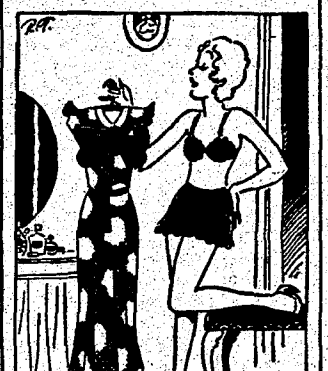

There are few of us who do not have to make sacrifices, bury desires. From the moment a woman becomes a mother she must bury desires for many personal pleasures, for freedom which is incompatible with responsibility. But the new plant that is rising up, the new hopes, dreams, joys, the great wealth of possession in human love, in living that is growing out of those kernels—can any words express their value? Down at the level of daily living it is not always apparent that the little kernels of sacrifice are not just thrown away. But a little perspective will reveal how they fertilize the soil from which grows our future.

And so in all the relationships throughout life. Something must be sacrificed that something else may grow. As we grow richer in years we are likely to grow in the opinion that Nature knows what she is doing.

THE UPWARD LOOK

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

SEEING the rose, I saw a vine About a mighty trunk entwined, And found the trunk to be a pine.

And looking up, to see how high The tree above me, then my eye Beheld beyond the tree the sky.

And yet we think some holy deed Of ours the world will never heed, So small the matter, great the need.

Yet I, who first beheld the rose, The vine, and then the tree that grows, Saw Heaven itself its gates unclose.

So has some little deed sufficed To lift some soul by sin enticed, Until it looked, and saw the Christ.

Aid Christmas Seal Sale By Radio Dramatization

ALTHOUGH YOUNG in years, Bobby Stevenson, Doris Bolde and Ernest Winstanley, pictured above, are experienced, yes veteran radio entertainers. All Michigan youngsters, they recently participated in the production of a radio transcription to be used by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in connection with the thirtieth annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals, now in progress throughout the nation. So outstanding was their work that the recorded program—entitled "Peter Master's Triumph"—and pointing out the good that is accomplished through Christmas seals—is being used not only by radio stations everywhere in Michigan, but by stations in nearly two-thirds of the states in the union.

Funds raised during the sale which the young artists support so laudably will be used to finance the fight against tuberculosis in 1937. Still taking more lives between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease, tuberculosis is a challenge to every thinking individual, according to Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

"In the past five years," Dr. Douglas declares, "tuberculosis Christmas seal funds have provided two of the modern weapons of medical science—the tuberculin test and the X-ray—for 100,000 Michigan people. It is that kind of modern tuberculosis protection that is assured through the purchase of Christmas seals."

Yuletide in Old New York

There was a hot time in old New York when Christmas rolled around. The Dutch were a merry people and the streets rang with joy to commemorate the birth of Christ. In 1634, for instance, the city fathers declared themselves a Christmas holiday that began December 14 and lasted until three weeks after New Year's day. That was a real Christmas vacation!

Among the Clerks

(By J. Wellington Bumsted)

In all justice to our honorable Billiard Championship, I have prepared the following resume of last week's tournament:

"Blackie," himself, opened the three-day tourney by taking the first shot—taking care to swing his arm freely yet firmly in the approved Levan style.

The first contestants—Jimmy Post and Lloyd Gierke—then took up their position and the score ended 50 to 34—with Gierke trailing and Jimmy taking down.

Hurl Deckrow took "Sweden" Swanson, to the tune of 50 to 30 with "Sweden" taking his defeat in true sportsman style. "Two-Bit" Callahan then took Maimman Glover to the tune of 50 to 42.

"Scarbelly" Peterson then matched wits with "Eagle" Gierke, with figures standing at 50 and 40; but Hunter then defeated Lloyd Jennings—50 to 33, and Ken Gohro bested Art May—50 to 43.

Tuesday's contest opened with Bill Hunter and "Scarbelly" Peterson, each with a 50 to 0 tie expressed in the left eye. The match ended with Gohro for Hunter and 50 to 0 to Peterson. Score—50 to 0.

"Two-Bit" Callahan then showed that "Two-Bit" was not a veteran player goes at his game, and "Blackie" cleaned up a score of 75 to 33. The rest of the tournament ended in scores of 100 to 76 with Hunter trailing.

Wednesday night found the boys there ready and anxious to end the bout in the race of even greater entertainment. "Two-Bit" Callahan opened the game with Bill Hunter and the match ended 100 to 76 with Hunter trailing.

Jimmy Post then eyed "Two-Bit" with methodical precision and the two mighty players sat on their hands and neared no. It was no one but "Blackie" who was there at the moment, and waiting to lift the brawny Callahan arm in the victory salute. Score, 100 to 80. The evening wound up with three deer for all and a seat in the hall of fame for Callahan.

Extra Special

What's this I hear about a mighty ruler about to be elected to preside at the winter sports park this coming carnival season? So far as I have been able to learn—there are two would-be opponents—a big fellow and another of Napoleonic physique. The tall one is still in the community, but WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO THE LITTLE FELLOW? Two bits for information leading to his apprehension.

SCHOOL NEWS

Tuesday and Wednesday, Miss Tumath's 9th grade class entertained their mothers at a supper given in the Home Ec. rooms.

Wednesday, December 9th, a representative of the Michigan Bakeries presented a demonstration on "The proper method of preparing sandwiches."

The pupils of the South Side School, under the supervision of Miss Fyvie and Miss Fink, presented their Christmas program. With the cooperation of the parents, candy and nuts were passed out and it proved to be a gala time for young and old.

Friday, Dec. 11th, the members of the Hi-Y club presented an assembly program telling of their experiences at the Olier Boys Conference, held at Pontiac recently. With President Max Ferguson as the presiding officer, the program rolled along smoothly as each boy who made the trip told a different phase of his experiences. Those taking part were: Edwin Chalker, Kermit Charron, Bill Joseph, and Leonard Knibbs.

Just before the curtain rolled up for the Junior play last week, one of the members of the cast John Henry Peterson, received the following telegram from his old friend, Jack Wright: "Best of luck on the start of your acting career." (Signed, Bacon).

The grade children have received their Red Cross pins and each room is receiving the Jr. Red Cross news.

Kindergarten News

The Kindergarten has made a fireplace in school and have hung stockings in front of it.

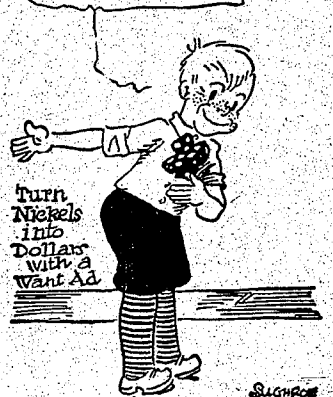

They have made a Christmas calendar decorated with pictures of Christmas toys. They have also made some Christmas presents.

They are going to trim the Christmas tree today and on Friday we are going to have a party.

The two teams representing Grayling at the Roscommon game last Friday night, made a clean sweep of the evening, the Varsity copying by a 23-18 score and the seconds winning to the tune of 27-2. Both games were fast and exciting, although the Bears did win by a rather lop-sided margin. The Varsity game was in the hands of the Grayling five from the start to finish, with the Green and White furnishing a surprise for the veteran Roscommon squad.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Our Good Will Ambassador

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.

—What better salesman of good will and brotherly understanding could we send to our great sister republics in the lower half of this hemisphere than our own president, who carries for his samples his personality and his spoken words?

If, in the past, we looked mainly to the old world for our markets, it is certain that in the future we must increasingly cultivate the Latin stocks of the new world, on a continent whose incredible natural resources are for a great part still virgin and nations who must be cured of persisting beliefs that the Irvin S. Cobb Monroe doctrine is, for them, a threat and not a shield.

Yesterday was Europe's and today is North America's then surely the promise of tomorrow belongs to South America.

Tugwell's New Job.

NOW that brother Tugwell, almost the last surviving lobe of the original brain trust, has left the government flat, folks are wondering how he'll make out in his new line.

Don't worry, anybody. To some, the molasses business might be sticky, but it offers no obstacles to a young gentleman who wrote and, what's more, had published, a poem with this deathless refrain: "I will now roll up my sleeves and remake America."

Mark the words, in six months he'll be an outstanding popcorns baron, and inside of a year the acknowledged taffy-kisses king of North America. And pretty soon we'll be lasses-conscious to a point where the effect will be that the entire country is paved with fresh fly-paper.

I wouldn't be surprised to see us using caramels for currency. And as for peanut brittle—well, I've already started hoarding.

Il Duce's Son-in-law.

WHEN Mussolini let the word percolate that he was grooming that new son-in-law to fill his dictatorial boots he must have meant what he hinted at. Because latest photographs show the heir apparent with his jaw also thrust forward, his brows also knit in menacing frown, and his plumpish bosom inflated until his medals stand forth like carnival tags on a marquee.

The likeness to the original model is so perfect that Il Duce could use a picture of the young man for a hand mirror.

Ornithologically, it seems fitting that Italy, having kicked the dove of peace in the pants, should cherish the pouter pigeon pose to typify defiance.

The Language of Lawyers.

I REGRET I didn't think this up first—some dirty plagiarist is always thinking up something before I get around to doing so. But I feel it my duty to help spread it around, especially since it was a lawyer who wrote it. I'm quoting him:

"If a layman gives an orange to you he simply says: 'Have an orange.' But when a lawyer puts the transaction in legal form he writes: 'I hereby give and convey all and singular, my estate and interests, right, title, claim and advantages of and in said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp and pips, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut, suck and otherwise to eat the same or give the same away with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp or pips, anything hereinbefore or hereinafter or in any other means of whatever nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.' And then another lawyer comes along and takes it away from you."

Underdone Movie Hams. MEDICAL journal reports that a preventative has been found for trichina. But I'm afraid it's too late to do anything for some of our Hollywood actor-folk, trichina being a thing common to underdone hams.

A lot of us who came out here as greenhorns and went to cutting up dices for the screen have an alibi. When the movie critics accuse us of having contracted the disease of bad acting, our defense is that we'd been exposed to it.

Yet the films have produced a grand crop of good actors, out of very raw material, too, sometimes. And they keep right on doing so, notwithstanding that every now and then the popular fancy picks on some male beauty with a set of educated eyelashes and the winsome trick of a languishing glance.

CHEER UP MEN, SIMPLE FARE RATED HIGHEST

Found, a professor of foods who asserts that the art of cooking and the art of dining are exempt from the caprices of fashion.

She is Miss Beatrice Grant at Michigan State College, assistant professor of foods in the home economics division. And her logic will please families whose households are sometimes treated to such departures from the best liked foods that these innovations fail to draw any praise.

Especially at holiday time, says Miss Grant, there are certain family traditions about foods that must be upheld if the family is to feel entirely satisfied with the menu for the feast. If it's turkey, cranberry sauce and plum pudding that are expected, something else may prove disappointing.

As an example she points to the woman who dared to surprise the family at New Year's dinner with a small whole roast pig to replace the anticipated roast goose. And the cook couldn't figure out the amazement and disappointment. The family had looked forward to carving the unfortunate goose but were almost moved to tears of pity for the little pig with the red apple in its mouth.

Most pleasing ways of preparing and serving food usually are the simplest. These are the methods, Miss Grant concludes, that result in food looking like food. And many agree with Oliver Cromwell's "clerk of the kitchen" for observing that the perfect cook is single minded and disguises nothing.

ESCHEATED BANKROLL SAVED BY FINGERPRINTS

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 16—Though "X" marks the spot with considerable finality in many cases, it was insufficient as the signature to a petition for return of a bankroll held by the state board of escheats.

The applicant could not write, but many years ago, in opening an account with a Michigan bank, a record of his fingerprints had been taken as a means of supplementing identification of his "X" on checks drawn on the account.

Because the account was inactive for a number of years, it was turned over to the state. Recently, the man reappeared and applied at the bank for his money. He was told it was in custody of the state board of escheats. He petitioned the board for return.

Ordinarily, a letter is required from the bank identifying the claimant's signature. But in this case the signature was merely "X"—and "X's" aren't very convincing in identification matters. A photostatic copy of the man's fingerprints, however, was furnished by the bank. Prints of the applicant supplemented the "X" on his petition to the board of escheats.

The documents with their "X's" and ink-smudges were sent to the identification bureau of the Michigan State Police. Fingerprint experts determined that both sets of prints were made by the same person. The man's right to the fund was established.

Though the prints were taken several years before the non-criminal fingerprint identification file was started by the state police bureau, Captain I. H. Marmon points out this means of identification is almost daily proving a means of usefulness and value to those who have relied for this indisputable proof of identity.

Home Economics Extension Notes

Higgins Lake Home Ec. Group

The meeting of the Higgins Lake Home Extension Group met at Mrs. Ruth Meade's the afternoon of December 9, 1936. The subject of the lesson was the "Color and Line of Clothing." At the meeting each member learned which colors were most becoming to her and which ones most suitable for her to wear.

The group will meet twice again before taking up the third lesson.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. James Gardiner's in Roscommon, January 8th, and the second at Mrs. Gladys Schroeder's on January 22nd.

COYOTES GETTING PLENTIFUL

Coyotes are getting plentiful, says Harry Souders, conservation officer, and they are hard to wipe out.

He said there were a number of wildcats but that they are very easily located and killed, because they are inclined to remain close to their own habitats. With coyotes, he says, they take extremely wide circuits, at times covering several counties and are not so easily located and destroyed.

The northern part of the county is quite effected by these cunning predatory animals, especially so west of Frederic. It is his opinion that coyotes will not attack persons.

The Michigan coyotes look very much like large police dogs, the most marked difference being the tails, the coyote tail being bushy while that of the police dog is shaggy.

Growth of Yeast

Not until the year 1836 was it realized that the yeast which was always found in fermenting liquor, was really a living organism, which, if observed under the microscope, was found to grow.

Some drivers feel that their ability to get out of a tight spot is a demonstration of skill. Reckless driving is not a demonstration of skill. A driver may get a thrill from getting out of a tight spot by quick and expert handling of his car. He should not boast about it or get "cocky" from this experience.

A good driver never gets in a tight spot. He is always careful on the approach to intersections, schools, crossroads, and other places where there may be a possibility of meeting other drivers.

The anticipation of an accident at these possible spots makes for careful driving. It's smart to be careful.

A Christmas Crime Wave

The early Puritans had plenty of trouble with Christmas roisterers who persisted in celebrating the holiday. The picture is of Elder Bradford checking the Christmas crime wave with some iron-clad words. It was not until 1856 that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts got around to making Christmas a legal holiday.

IZAAK WALTON CHAPTER MEETS

The regular meeting of the local Chapter of the Izaak Walton league met in the court chambers Wednesday night and many matters of interest to local people came before this meeting. Mr. F. J. Houtmaster, Director of Conservation, Mr. Stevenson, and Mr. Kingscott were present at the meeting and entered into the discussions pertaining to suggested changes in the deer laws. These suggested changes being, changing the law to eliminate the killing of spotted deer bucks and limiting the kill to antlered bucks only. This suggestion being for the purpose of conserving our deer herds, and hoping to eliminate the killing of so many does.

It was also advocated to increase the penalties on the killing of does as well as on the purchaser and seller of venison. Such penalties to be severe and mandatory. It was also suggested that violators who have been convicted and denied the privilege of license for a three year period, to be compelled as a matter and part of their sentence to report to some local law enforcement officer in the locality in which they reside, at least every second day during the deer season. This suggestion for the purpose of eliminating the possibility of those so convicted of securing license at some other point where the individual is unknown. These various suggestions were referred to the committee on conservation who will report their recommendations at the next regular meeting.

Further business coming before the meeting included suggestion to change the name of the local chapter to the Rubie Babbitt Chapter in respect to a man who had conservation so close to his heart. Mr. Wright at this point advised the members that he was working out a plan that would make it possible for the local chapter to have a log club house and would give further details at the next meeting.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM NEXT WEDNESDAY

To Be Held At Michelson Memorial Church

The annual Christmas program of the Church School of the Michelson Memorial church will be given Wednesday evening, Dec. 23rd at 8 o'clock.

The beginners and primary departments, under the direction of Mrs. Augustus Funck and her staff, will present a group of Christmas exercises, recitations, and songs.

A pageant of the nativity entitled "The Prophetic Child" is to be dramatized by the boys and girls of the junior, intermediate, and senior departments. An important feature of the pageant will be the musical setting consisting of carols, which will be sung by a girls' and boys' chorus. These choristers will also march in the processional and recessional.

The White Gift offering which will be received on the occasion, will be given to the Methodist Children's Home at Detroit.

The purpose of the Christmas program is to portray for the Church School and the parents and friends the story of the birth of the Saviour and to bring to all a greater appreciation of the religious significance of Christmas.

After the program the usual Christmas treat will be distributed in the basement of the church.

Every one in Grayling and its environs is most cordially invited to this presentation of the church school.

DEMOCRATS ENJOY VICTORY BANQUET

Celebrating the overwhelming victory in the recent election, the Democrats of Crawford county enjoyed a Victory banquet at St. Mary's hall Tuesday evening. Some ninety ladies and gents sat down to a sumptuous banquet served by the ladies of St. Mary's Altar society. Evergreens in keeping with the season decorated the hall with a large American flag gracefully hung along the back of the speakers' table. The meal was very good and everyone seemed to enjoy it very much.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Clyde Ketcham of the Resettlement Administration, and he very witily announced each number. Rev. Juhl gave the invocation and was followed by the girls quartet composed of Misses Jeanine and Natalie Peterson, Mildred Craft and Dorothy Miller, and the number was so well received that they had to respond with an encore. They were accompanied by Miss Virginia Peterson.

A. J. Nelson, president of the Democratic Men's club, was next on the program and after a few words of greeting, announced his committees for the ensuing year. Mr. Ketcham then introduced H. A. Fick, who is at the head of the Resettlement Administration here, and who responded graciously. Then with some real flowery words, he called upon Clarence Johnson, chairman of the County Democratic committee, who said a few words regarding the patronage due this county. Mrs. Ketcham and James McDonnell, were called upon in turn and each said a few words.

The former concerning the Woman's Democratic club of which she is president. An out-of-town speaker, the main one of the evening, was Judge P. M. Haller, of Bay City, who gave an eloquent address. The judge has talked before Grayling audiences before and as usual he was much enjoyed.

The Democratic clubs are to be permanent and this was just one of the social activities that will take place from time to time.

He is survived by his widow. The remains were taken to Lansing for interment.

With the Community tree brilliantly lighted, placed as usual at the intersection of Michigan and Peninsular avenues, and the boulevard lights with their colored lights, the business district is most attractive. We have our city fathers to thank for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Madsen and daughter Iris left Sunday for Port Angeles, Wash., where they intend to spend the winter, and will visit at the home of Mrs. Madsen's parents. Clare says he intends to do a lot of ocean fishing while there and expects to land a few large ones. Port Angeles is on the Pacific ocean and is a city of about 20,000, in a lumbering region.

Another of those "comfortable" evenings was greatly enjoyed at the Willie Christenson cottage Saturday evening, by some of our pleasure-seeking Graylingites. Those there to make merry, besides Mr. and Mrs. Christenson, were Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. George Granger, Mr. and Mrs. John Erkes, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Serven, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martin.

The Stockholders' Auditing committee of the Grayling State Savings Bank made its regular semi-annual audit of the affairs of the bank last week. This committee is composed of Messrs. T. P. Peterson, George N. Olson and Alfred Hanson. Mr. William Rae also assisted with the audit. After same had been completed, the committee closed its report to the State Banking Department with the following remarks: "We have carefully checked the records of the bank and found them accurately kept. We compliment the officers, directors and employees for the efficient manner in which the business of the bank has been handled since last audit."

A lovely lunch was served, with covers laid for twenty-two ladies at a table very nicely decorated in holiday colors. A mixed bouquet of bachelor buttons, and white and lavender asters formed the centerpiece; flanked on either side by green tapers in silver holders. Favors were in colors of green and red. Mrs. Isenbauer was showered with many lovely gifts.

THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

© Public Ledger, Inc.

ABILITY to recognize and read the hand by type is but the first stage through which the expert palmist proceeds in assembling the details which become a final picture of the inner personality. The second step is the individual analyses of thumb and fingers, each of which holds amazing secrets to be revealed.

The Thumb.

Through these lessons you are laying a splendid groundwork for what is to come later. Before very long the hand will be opened to you, and then you will understand why so much attention has been given to fundamentals. Mastery of them leads to the knowledge possessed by the world's most celebrated palmists. You will find yourself duplicating to a surprising degree their ability to interpret the meanings of the mysterious groupings of lines with which destiny has written its undeniable records within the hands of every one.

The thumb is the most significant of all the individual fundamental elements. It discloses with almost incredible accuracy its owner's temperament; whether he or she is hot or cool headed, affectionate or cold, extravagant or thrifty, kind or cruel, vacillating or methodical, weak-willed or strong, foresighted or ruled by impulse.

Invents New Motor

Harry B. Miller, graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and now studying for his master's degree, demonstrates a new rotary motor he has developed. It is run by steam or compressed air, and so Miller says, is practically frictionless. The motor, which acts both as propellant and brake, is to be placed on the front wheel of automobiles.

Magnetite

Magnetism is one of the world's great mysteries. The phenomenon was first noted by Thales, the Greek philosopher, who died in 554 B. C. He observed that a certain kind of black iron ore, called magnetite or lodestone, attracted iron to itself. The Chinese also knew of this ore at least 1,000 years ago and used light strips of it as compasses.

WOMAN'S CLUB ENTERTAIN WITH CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas party given by the Woman's club was held at the Michelson Memorial church Tuesday evening.

The dining room of the church had been made very attractive and comfortable by the decorating committee with Mrs. A. J. Joseph as chairman. The lunch tables were bright with Christmas wreaths, poinsettias, silver leaves and natural greens which were arranged differently on each table.

The Drama committee, with Mrs. Stanley Stealy as chairman, presented a very clever skit "Uplifting Sadie." It portrayed a meeting and program of a culture club, Sadie being the maid at the club house. It was very well carried off by the cast and afforded immense amusement for the audience.

A Christmas tree with a gift for each guest and Santa Claus to distribute them, was another feature of the affair.

Lunch prepared by the Social committee, with Mrs. Karl Miller as chairman, concluded a very pleasant evening.

The gifts were turned over to the Campfire Girls for distribution.

The following made up the cast of the playlet:

Sadie (Maid at the Culture Club)—Alice Bond.
Miss Clive (Program Chairman)—Hazel Trudgeon.
Lady Fitz Roy (English Poet)—Jessie MacDonald.
Mrs. Gelling (President of the Club)—Margrethe Hemmingsen.
Mrs. Price (Treasurer of the Club)—Beatrice Hoels.
Mrs. Standish (Secretary and Chairman of Table Decoration)—Inez Poor.
Mrs. Cutting (Chairman of Tea Committee)—Jessie Bath.
Mrs. Spurge (Member of the Board)—Beatrice Cornell.
Mrs. Smith (Asked to Pour)—Bertha Peterson.
Mrs. Jones (Asked to Pour)—Amy Gothro.
Carrie (Cook of the Club)—Josephine Nichols.

Poisonous Snakes

Rattlesnake is not necessarily a "gentleman snake" which rattles its tail before every strike. A cotton-mouth water moccasin can and does bite under water. The copperhead is the most common poisonous snake in some sections, says a writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and in the dead grass and dried up leaves which it infests is one of the hardest to detect.
